because no one could say what the interstate commerce commission might do and that some of the most important shippers of the country already have made it plain that they are not in sympathy with his move which may mean a rate increase. It was pointed out also that although President Wilson has expressed his belief that a rate increase should be granted if the eight-hour day is given the employees no one can tell how the next election will stand and that there are no possibilities of an increase before next March or probably later.

Attention was called, too, to the fact that the commission bill has held that it cannot consider wage standards in dealing with proposed rate increases, altho legislation by congress might relieve that difficulty. The principal arguments against the idea of a permanent commission for the prevention of settlement of strikes was that it would appear unfairly to those who fought by labor in Congress and that while President Wilson might be entirely willing now to back such legislation he might not be in a position to do so when it was proposed. Representatives of the brotherhoods who heard of this phase of the plan yesterday were pliant, assuring it.

Not Inconsistent.

The railroad presidents were understood not to be inconsistent upon the commission idea for the settlement of future disputes and the main difficulty has been the working out of operating plans under an eight-hour day and of giving assurances to the presidents and managers that they can count upon a freight rate increase. Presidents and managers agreed that the operating plan presented one of the most complicated problems that have ever undertaken. There seems to be general opinion that the eight-hour day must be granted, but roads which now are operating on only a Cost of Eight-hour Day.

Statements were issued last night by President Pennington of the Minneapolis St. Paul and San Joaquin, and P. R. Albright, general manager of the Atlantic Coast line, emphasizing the salutary view of the additional cost to them of an eight-hour day. Pennington said for the railroads, although simple and in clear and forcible language, into the highest reaches of being the comprehension and use of the powers beyond the body and rising the mind. It was a powerful, ardent appeal to young people to learn early in life the real sense of practical morality and inductive habits of thought and master which will permit the domination of the world in many ways. The speaker did not hesitate to point out that the field was a new one for him, in so far as his appearance as speaker is concerned, but he showed quite clearly that it was no new field in his own mind or in his own body life, and that it carried weight and made a deep impression not only on the students but on all of his audience.

SCOUT MEETING IS TO BE HELD AT THE 'Y' TUESDAY NIGHT

Captain Toulouse Has Sent Guard
Uniforms for Use of the Boys;
Hoped to Get 100 in the Organizations.

A chance to get a real soldier suit for not more than one dollar, offered to 100 boys of the city. All now whether Boy Scouts or not are invited to come to the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday night to a scout meeting.

When a new issue of uniforms was recently sent to the National Guard companies on the border, some very good uniforms that have been used were put aside as make way for the new ones. Some of the old uniforms are in good condition and Captain Toulouse selected the best. They will make fine scout suits and they will not cost more than a dollar for the whole outfit.

Plans for organizing the scouts will be discussed at the meeting. Physical Director, Superintendent of the Young Men's Christian Association said, today that he hoped to get as many as 100 boys in the local troops. Work to be done for the state fair will also be considered at the meeting. Every boy in the city is invited to attend.

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 25.—The custom customs guard at El Paso, Texas, killed about fifteen miles down the river from Juarez, Mexico, with a half dozen Mexican cut-throats early today, according to a report received by General Francisco Canales in Juarez. One prisoner was taken and was executed by the soldiers, said it was stated. The soldiers fled into the desert.
